SOCIETY

WEDDING OF SOCIAL FAVORITES CLAIMS ATTENTION OF
PEOPLE WELL KNOWN
HERE

When a social favorite, who is at once a great beauty and a member of one of the most prominent families that make up the smart set, becomes a bride, interest in the wedding exceeds, perhaps, anything else on the calendar of social events. It was for all of those reasons combined that the marriage Wednesday afternoon of Miss Gertrude Hopkins and William Gregory Parrott claimed far more of social attention than is allotted to the usual bride.

No one is there to dispute the beauty of this charming girl, who since her debut three years ago, has been regarded as one of the most fascinatingly pretty girls of the younger generation of society. She is a tall, graceful brunette, with regular features and a very sweet expression. Needless to say, as a bride she was remarkably lovely.

Miss Hopkins chose white satin for her gown, a handsome effect, made on straight lines, and with a long train which fell from the waistline. The skirt was long, instead of following the mode of the last two years to short wedding dresses, and was very graceful. A slight drapery was noted at the side. Unrelieved by lace, the gown, both bodice and skirt, was heavily embroidered in an exquisite design that was studded with pearls and a tracery of the same pattern was noted on the chiffon sleeves. A wreath of orange blossoms crowned the bride's head, holding her veil in place, and the costume was completed with a beautiful shower of white butterfly orids, whose long sprays fell half way to the floor.

Miss Lillian Hopkins was her sister's only attendant. Like the bride, she, too, is a beauty, of a fairer type than her sister, and as sisterly built. She, too, chose white for her gown, of lighter frock, of which both the bodice and the skirt were in ruffles, and the gown was without color. A striking note was added in the magnificent train of American Beauty roses that she carried, and another touch of their rich hue was seen in the under-laying of her wide-brimmed white hat.

The bride was given into the keeping of her husband by her mother, Mrs. Sherwood Hopkins, who was her usual handsome self in a beautiful gown of amethyst panne velvet, with which she wore a picture hat of the same shade.

The service was read by Rev. Timothy Cahalan, pastor of the Church of St. Matthew of San Mateo, and a lifelong friend of the Parrott family.
Joseph Parrott was the best man.

The marriage took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Dearborn Clark, uncle and aunt of the bride, on "L" street. There the rooms were decked with a gay profusion of flowers in tones of pink and blue, masses of carnations, hydrangeas, tear lilies and delphiniums having been united in a very pleasing effect.
In the drawing room, where the ceremony took place, an altar had been erected, and this was covered with brocade and topped by urns of a variety of flowers, combined with ferns. Here, there and everywhere throughout the rooms the same scheme was observed, with giant baskets of flowers filling every available place throughout the house. Pink and blue also formed the color scheme for the table in the dining room from which the guests enjoyed a buffet wedding supper. Mr. and Mrs. Parrott at its conclusion left for their wedding journey, the destination of which they are keeping a secret from even their close friends. On their return they will divide their time between the home of the bride's mother on Jackson street and that of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs.
John Parrott of San Mateo.

Mrs. Parrott made her debut three years ago and has since enjoyed an enjoyable popularity in the younger set. She has been identified with the coterie that includes Mrs. Jack Neville, Mrs. William Mayo Newhall, Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Moore, Mrs. George Bowles and Mrs. Algonquin Gibson.
Misses Helen Crocker, Helen Keeney, Clara Coleman, Phyllis de Young, Helen Garratt and Arabella Scheraga She has one brother, William Sherwood Hopkins, and is a niece of Mrs.
Eugene Murphy and Mrs. Warren Dearborn Clark. Edward W. Hopkins is her granduncle and she is a cousin of Mrs. Augustus Taylor, Mrs.
William H. Taylor, Jr., Mrs. Frederick W. McNear and Mrs. J. Cheever Cowden and Samuel Hopkins.

The bridegroom is a member of a family that has been prominent in the social and financial affairs of the state for many years. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Parrott and a grandson of Mrs. Abby M. Parrott and Mrs. Emilie Donohue. His sisters are Mrs. Edward J. Tobin, Misses Emily, Barbara and Josephine Parrott and he has several brothers, Lieut. John Parrott and Messrs. Edmund, Joseph and Stephen Parrott. The family connection is a very wide one and included many persons of prominence both in this country and in Europe.—San Francisco Chronicle, Sept. 16.

THE WOMAN'S WAR COUNCIL The Woman's War Council is very busy arranging and finishing the detail work of the war pageant "Columbia Calls," which is to be put on at Arcadia, the home of ex-Governor and Mrs. Walter F. Frear, on the afternoon of October 3. The money made from this is to go toward paying any small expenses incurred by the council's War Council, which council has been started for the benefit of our Jacksies and Sammies.

The women of the islands want to do their part toward making the lives of our fighters a little brighter and more cheerful. Mr. J. J. Belser, when asked about the cartage of the bleachers that will have to be used to seat the audience, was most generous and willing to help and when he found it was for our fighting lads said the cartage would be a donation, and a very generous one it is. The War Council is more than grateful for this hearty and unsolicited offer and thank Mr. Belser sincerely. Mr.
F. E. Blake, when approached, very kindly loaned the bleachers as he said he knew the Mid-Pacific Cinema Committee would be glad to cooperate with us. The tickets will be on sale next week and it is hoped that everyone will make an effort to come and take part. It is planned to start at a quarter to five in the afternoon, with music, and then at five the pageant will start. It takes but 35 minutes to complete, so that everyone will be home in ample time for dinner. It is not to be a dress affair, men and women coming directly from their offices. Instead of the usual afternoon motor ride, go and see the pageant "Columbia Calls."

The Woman's War Council have a lot of splendid ideas and plan to use them for the happiness of our enlisted men, making them know that they are part of the life of this city. The Woman's War Council will meet at 10 o'clock on Friday morning at the Y. W. C. A. rooms and it is hoped that every delegate will be there and have some concrete statement ready. Mrs. Lowrey is always willing and cheerfully helps a delegate over untrodden paths and her helpfulness will make the council a huge success.

MISS CARTER "ON VOYAGE" The younger as well as many of the older members of society were at the wharf to bid "bon voyage" to popular Miss Elizabeth Carter, who left on a very happy mission—that of going to New York City, where they will be married. Lieut. Bougardis is on a convoy ship going across the Atlantic.
Miss Carter plans to enter a nurses' training school immediately after the wedding and to fit herself for duty in caring for the sick and wounded of our own and our Allies' men.

Miss Carter's wedding is to be a very simple one in keeping with the times, and will be attended by the relatives and friends who are in the East. All of Honolulu wishes this daughter and her fiancé a future of happiness.

ARMY AND NAVY BRIDES OF IN-TEREST HERE
Aid a wealth of flowers and music at Newman hall, Berkeley, last Wednesday, a wedding of interest to the North as well as to the South was that of Dr. Agnes Scholl of Los Angeles and Dr. John Carroll Riddick, assistant surgeon of the United States navy, stationed at Bremerton, Wash.
A romance started in their early college days at Berkeley had a fitting climax in the beautiful chapel of the Newman club, where they first met.
The bride's attendants were her sister, Miss Margaret Scholl, and Miss Norma Wheeler of Los Angeles, while Lieutenant Senton and Marston Ilois attended the bridegroom.—San Francisco Chronicle, September 16.

ARMY NEWLYWEDS
Captain and Mrs. Thomas Rees, Jr., who enjoyed a brief visit here with Colonel and Mrs. Rees, left during the week for El Paso, where young Rees is stationed. Captain and Mrs. Rees are newlyweds of the month, and during their visit here were delightfully entertained by the younger members of the army set. The marriage was one of the important events of last month at El Paso, where the bride's father, Colonel John W. Heard, is stationed. Mrs. Rees was Miss Anna Heard.—San Francisco Chronicle, September 16.

PRE-NUP TIAL EVENT
A few days previous to her marriage to William Parrott, which was one of the most interesting social events of the past week, Miss Gertrude Hopkins was entertained at a pretty luncheon at the Francisca club, given by Miss Marie Louise Winslow.
This was one of a series of delightfully informal affairs which were given for the pretty bride previous to her marriage. Those who were asked by Miss Winslow to greet the guest of honor included Misses Cara Coleman, Betty Folger, Evelyn Weller, Emily Pope, Elena Folger, Helen Clark.—San Francisco Examiner, September 16.

A RED CROSS DRIVE MEETING
A meeting is called for 3 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs.
Augustus E. Murphy to instruct those assisting in Saturday's Red Cross drive. Every member of the committee is asked to attend, as all instructions and directions are to be given out at this meeting.

Mrs. Joseph D. Grant and her daughter, Miss Edith Grant, left for the East during the week. The journey was made for the purpose of placing Miss Edith Grant in school at Catonsville.— San Francisco Chronicle, Sept. 16.

Mrs. E. C. Peart and daughter entertained Mr. Phil Polner of Moana Hotel, Honolulu, at a luncheon given at the home in honor of his visit to California after five years absence.— San Francisco Examiner, Sept. 9.

Mrs. Frank Shay was a passenger on the steamer that sailed for Honolulu Tuesday. Mrs. Shay will be a guest of relatives in the island city during the next two months.—San Francisco Chronicle, Sept. 16.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Carter and Miss Elizabeth Carter left last evening for New York City, where Miss Carter will be married to Lieut.
Washington Evardus Bougardis, U.
S. N.

Mrs. C. Potter King of New York City, who has been here for the summer, a guest at the Moana, left for the East on the Wilhelmnia.

Mrs. L. M. Gray and Mrs. E. Moffat, visitors from the states, arrived from the Volcano yesterday and left for the states last evening.

Dr. C. B. Wood was an arrival this morning after having spent a vacation with his mother at San Jose.

Miss H. von Holt was a departing passenger for the mainland on last evening's Wilhelmnia.

Mrs. H. Evans and Mrs. C. Shay left for Maui last evening on the Mikahala.

Dr. and Mrs. Ormond Wall are home from their trip to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Campbell were homecomingers this morning.

FREDERICK IS LIBERTY STAR

Pauline Frederick may be placed in a class by herself as a consistent and versatile emotional actress. Her every appearance on a local screen brings her more friends and supporters. No matter whether the offering has strength or merit there is always the assurance that the premier star will "deliver the goods."

"Sleeping Fires," the current Liberty attraction, is a Pauline Frederick starring vehicle which lacks the dramatic strength and intensity of "Bella Donna," "Zaza," or "The Slave Market," but which, nevertheless, offers plenty of opportunity for Miss Frederick to display her talent.

One of the outstanding features of the work of this star in this particular offering is the complete change of character from any of her previous billings. Here she is seen as the devoted young wife and mother, scorned for another but fighting for her own flesh and blood. The plot is sufficiently deep to create a couple of strong characters and Miss Frederick is splendid in one of these while the other is ably handled by Thomas Meighan, another big favorite with patrons of the Liberty. "Sleeping Fires" closes with the performance of this evening.

ADDED FEATURE
ON HAWAII BILL

"One Touch of Sin" will be the added feature at the Hawaii theater for this evening and the balance of the week. The big attraction continues the same—"The Floor Walker," with Charlie Chaplin in the title role, creating laughter at his customary rate of "a laugh a second." Chaplin is now appearing at his best and is allowing barely sufficient time between outbursts of laughing for his audience to gain its collective breath.

Gladys Brockwell, who has already appeared at the Hawaii in the leading role in both "The End of the Trail" and "Sins of Her Parents," is again featured in "One Touch of Sin," a typical Fox melodramatic production. The story is laid in a western mining camp—all mining camps in the silent drama are in the West.
How a woman steals to provide for her child, is almost discovered but saved through the kindness of a bulk of a miner in love with her and her child, and how another man, the father of the child, enters their lives and ultimately wins back the woman is the basis of the story. There are numerous stirring scenes and the playwright has drawn heavily upon the supply of thrilling incidents, making a photodrama that is strongly in contrast with "The Floor Walker."

"THE SPOILERS"
SHOWN AT BIJOU

The time is rapidly approaching when "The Spoilers" probably the greatest film ever shown in Honolulu, will close its engagement at the Bijou theater and leave this city for ever.
This is not one of those "farewell" performances for which European stars are famous but a genuine affair.
"The Spoilers" goes out of existence as a photoplay in the near future, according to the producers. The reason given is that an agreement to this effect was made when the picturization rights were secured.

William Farnum in his original role is seen in the present offering. The edition de luxe of "The Spoilers" Opposite to Farnum there is Kathryn Williams and this combination of stars has added considerably to the strength of the cast. Of course, Far-num appeared at his best in the original film but the newer extended offerings brings out a number of the stronger features of the Rex Beach book that were omitted in the first place.

For those who have never seen the film there is a rare treat in store. For those who saw it on its last visit to Honolulu there is also a rare treat.
Even without any changes it is worth a second visit.
